A War Conference

That ministers from the self-govern-ing dominions will go to London to con-sult with the authorities there on the co-ordination of war efforts was to be expected. Periodical conferences of the kind are likely, if it is found not advisable to follow the course adopted in the Great War and establish a permanent war coun-

War and establish a permanent war council for the Empire.

Since this promises to be a long war, and a war in which mustitions and other vital supplies from outside sources will be of first rate importance to Britain and France, it is appropriate that Canada is to be represented by its Minister of mines and resources. Mr. Crerar is an authority on the subject, in regard to the variety of products obtainable from Canadian resources. In extent to which these have sources, the extent to which these have been already developed, and the possibility been aiready developed, and the possibility of further expansion of output to meet whatever needs may arise.

While not a consideration to be un-duly stressed, it will be gratifying to west-ern people that Canada's spokesman is to be one of themselves, who is by personal be one of themselves, who is by personal and administrative experience familiar with western production and potentialities. These we may be sure will not be overlooked when the delegates sit down to study the prospective needs of the Allies and the sources from which these are to

Newsmen To Meet

On Friday and Saturday, Edmonton will be host to members of the Alberta Weekly Newappers Association, who will be meeting here in annual convention. Editors of rural papers from all parts of the province will take part in the discussions, when problems associated with the newspaper industry will be reviewed.

paper industry will be reviewed. Editors of weekly papers published in Alberta towns are in close touch with the communities they serve. They have helped weave the pattern for the life in which rural Alberta is set. Cherishing a high ideal, they have sought to inform their papers with a spirit of integrity so that they could speak on public issues with clarity and without rancour. The esteem that they could speak on public issues with clarity and without rancour. The esteem in which their work is held shows how well they have fulfilled their task. The convention this year meets in the shadow of war, with new issues and stark challenges created by the conflict between freedom and despotism. #### The Silence That Is Rome

Signor Mussolini in the role of a silent observer of passing events is something new, and a strange enough spectacle to deserve the attention it naturally invites. Not all the attention is flattering to the erstwhile maker of balcony speeches. It is being suggested that Italy's long coast line is a practical reason why the belicose Benito walks warlly in these troubloom times. But when a statesman refuses to add to the miseries and anxieties of the world, let not his motives be too severely questioned.

Besides, the silence of Il Duce is not Besides, the silence of Il Duce is not confined to a masterful restraint of the impulse to back up his axis partner by hurling threats at Hitler's enemies. He is eloquently silent also in the matter of voicing the Fueber's keer desire to be extricated from the perils which now surround him. A month ago Mussolini was busy in the wholly creditable effort to awer the war. Now he apparently declines to father a proposal to end it on the Hitler terms, forcession—it is exception—it.

to father a proposal to end in the Hitler terms, foreseeing—it is explained—that the attempt would be futule to speak a word on Adolf's behalf, however futule to speak a word on Adolf's behalf, however futule the 'gesture' appeared to be? The real explanation is the new deal with Stain. This youling together of Nazian and Communism was more than the Mussolini stomach could stand. When it was announced, the axis went out of business for practical purposes. Having made his bed, the Fuehrer can be in it for all 'il Duce secum disposed to de or say."

Perhaps Mussolini is hot averse, for more reasons than one, to 8e his too masterful ally checked in his carser. A little laige, with lactful treatment by Britain laige, with lactful treatment by Britain terful ally checked in his career. A little and France, it is not inconceivable that he may even help to do the checking.

A Record of Deception

His propaganda department has for a week been sending out feelers as to the chance that France and Britain might make peace with the Fuehrer, on the basis make peace with the Fuehrer, on the basis that he keep the swag he has already gathered in return for a promise to grab no more. The reader who wants to get a clear record of the course of events which led up to the latest burging exploit of Herr Hiller, and thus judge intelligently what his promise of future good behavior would be worth should re-read Frime Min-Chamberlain's statement to the Briister Chamberlain's statement to the Bri-tish House of Commons on Friday, Sep-tember 1st. On Friday, it should be re-membered, for the date is important. His Government, the Prime Minister said, had strongly urged upon both parties that while negotiations were proceeding no aggressive military action should be taken by either. The Polish Government replied instantly on Thursday, aggresig to the suggestion on condition that Horr Hitler also accorded it. "We never had any reply also accepted it. "We never had any reply from the German Government as to that also accepted it. "We never had any reply from the German Government as to that suggestion"; this on Friday, hours after the Nant troops had been huried against the Polish lines and Nazi airmen sent to strafe Polish lines and Nazi airmen sent to strafe Polish lowns.

Yet Herr Hitler gave as one reason for the attack that Polish troops had been carrying on aggressive action along the border clashes by restraining his own troops, he made it an offence that the Poles sent bullets in reply to builets. Thursday night the German broadcasting system gave a list of sixteen points, comprising the terms on which the Fuehrer was said to be willing to make a peaceful settlement with Poland. But, says Mr. Chamberlain, "These proposals have never been communicated by Germany to Poland at all." This, again be it remembered, was the fact on Friday, long after Poland had been invaded—supposedly for having failed to accept the terms. As for Britain, "We never got a copy of those proposals. The first time we heard them was on the broadcast latar light."

Wednesday night Herr von Ribbentrop had read to the British ambassador a

Wednesday night Herr von Ribbentrop had read to the British ambassador a had read to the British ambassador a lengthy document, presumably containing these proposals, reading hurriedly and in German. When Henderson asked for a copy he was told: "It is now too late, as the Polish representative has not arrived in Berlin." Poland was to be attacked, and was attacked, because it had not sent a plenipotentiary clothed with full power to put his name to a series of demands which the Polish Government, and the al-lled Governments, had never seen.

which the Pollish Government, and the al-lied Governments, had never seen. Herr Hiller has made it a cardinal point in his protest against the Treaty of Versailles that Germany was not guilty of plunging Europe into war twenty-five years ago. No one can ever raise the question as to where guilt lies for the wholly unnecessary and therefore "seenseless" attack upon Poland. For that crime Herr Hilder is personally respon-sible. He did nothing to prevent war. He apparently did everything the circum-stances suggested to prevent a settlement without war.

Russia is negotiating with Norwegian ship-owers to carry cargoes of Russian timber to Britain, further evidence that the new trade pact does not give Germany any monopoly of Russian products available for export. Since the timber can be most economically shipped through the Baltic and timber has been placed on the Nazi contraband list, further disturbances in that stormy sea are in prospect.

If Herr Hitler wants peace, he knows If Herr Hittler wants peace, he knows the one way to start negotiations with any prospect of success. As an earnest of good faith let him hand back the stolen property and take himself and his gangsters out of the seats of the mighty in Germany. Those are the only conditions on which the Allies could, with any regard for honesty or their own security, stop fighting.

Marking the Limit

There need not be too much asionlabment over the announcement that already the Canadian government will prepare a division of 16,000 men as a first separationary force. This is not to say that this contingent will ason leave for England or that it will be followed by another—or several others, but aimply that it is intended to separate immediately; those who are ready to serve overseas from those who do not intend to nesparate immediately those who are ready to serve overseas from those who do not intend to nesparate immediately through the ready of the contingent of the moment that for the moment the government was not considering the sending of contingents to reinforce the imperial army. You'll thrill to the exciting new ways the supple skins are worked and to the rare flattery of the sliky furs.

For This Sale Only We Have At Least Twice Our Usual Stock Of Fur Coats

This fine stock, doubling our usual selection, will not be repeated this year; and the prices are distinctly LOW; prices we feel you will not see again for a long, long time to come. Naturally, with war conditions, fur prices are rapidly rising, with every indication that they will continue to do so. Therefore this Walk-Ritie offer is an unusual and timely opportunity to secure a quality Fur Coat at a generous saving. Every Coat will be guaranteed.

CONFIDENCE

In Buying FURS

The purchase of a fur coat is a well considered investment in style, beauty and practicability.

beauty and practicability.
How can you be sure that your money is wisely invested?
In buying furs there is nothing more important than dependability. Only an expert furrier can determine the true value of a coat. That is why a fur coat must be purchased largely on faith . . . in the integrity and honesty of the retailer. The Hudson's Bay Company label, k nown favorably through 269 years of dealing in furs is YOUR GUARANTEE.

We believe that our furs are fairly priced and give you the finest value possible for your investment.

Series Sidelights

Since it became generally known that the Grads were on the point of disbanding through lack of box office support, Goods Percy Page has been present to carry on by literally hundreds in Edmonton and the surrounding district. Some of the towns have even sen't him petitions on the subject. At the same time, attendance for the Wichia series picked up considerably.
